

Methodists Save Belgian and Serbian Orphans

Southern Church Buys Homes in Brussels and Belgrade and Supports Serbian Refugees in England.

Nashville, Tenn. — The Centenary Commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will specialize in caring for the children of Belgium, Serbia and other stricken countries of Europe, according to an announcement made by Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, the director-general. Dr. Beauchamp and a Church Commission have just returned from Europe.

For this purpose a large home, formerly a famous boys' school, has been purchased at Uccle, a suburb of Brussels. Several hundred children can be accommodated in this building, and the Methodists will assume entire responsibility for them and their future. Another home has been bought at Belgrade, Serbia, and here the underfed orphans of the Southern Slavs will be given medical attention and cared for. A staff of women physicians, secured from Scotland, will be in charge of this home.

Still another orphanage has been taken over at Faversham, England. This home already contains more than a hundred Serbian children, orphaned refugees who were taken from their homes during the Austrian invasion.

Pilgrimage of Children Deplorable.

"One can scarcely imagine the plight of the Belgian and Serbian children," declared Dr. Beauchamp. "The mines of Northern France have been flooded or filled with concrete by the Germans, and thousands of children will literally freeze to death this winter."

"I have seen them living in the old trenches and dug-outs left by the enemy, with little to eat save what is gathered from the passers-by."

Relief stations will be established as quickly as workers can be obtained and supplies sent. These will be at Brussels, Ypres, St. Quentin, Montdidier, Belgrade and other centers.

The Centenary Commission is seeking for two young physicians, eight nurses, a dozen women social workers, and a number of superintendents and directors to reinforce the relief staff. These will be sent abroad at once.

The Church has a fund of $5,000,000 for this purpose. It is a part of the $83,000,000 fund which was raised in the recent Centenary Drive.

Christians Invade The Holy Land

Southern Methodists Send First Workers to Palestine for Bible and Literature Distribution.

(Special Correspondence)
Nashville, Tenn. — The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has the distinction of being the first Christian denomination to send workers to Palestine since the free regime inaugurated under the occupancy of General Allenby.

The Centenary European Commission of the Church, headed by Bishop James Atkins and Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, have already dispatched five colporteurs to the Holy Land. These will be followed by five more in the next few weeks.

These workers will establish no stations, but will follow the early Methodist custom of itinerating over the country distributing Bibles, tracts and Christian literature.

This literature will be printed in the native dialects, and will be secured through an arrangement with the Nile Press in Egypt.

Under the rule of the Turk such a movement would have been prohibited, but under Allenby there is perfect freedom of religion. The action of the Southern Methodists is the beginning of a vast scheme of missionary activity which will be carried on in the Holy Land.

A Kentucky Woman's Experience

Paducah, Ky. — "It is a pleasure to me to recommend a medicine that has done me so much good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have taken it as a tonic during my pregnancy. I have been such an enthusiastic over 'Favorite Prescription' and the benefit I have received from it that I have not only recommended it to my friends but to my own daughters as well. I have never known of a case where it has failed in giving the results desired." — MRS. CORA SMALLMAN, 908 N. 5th St.

A Nervous Wreck

Louisville, Ky. — "I was certainly a miserable wreck before I took Dr. Pierce's medicines. I was nervous, my back ached all the time and I had intense pains. When I refused to submit to an operation my doctor told me about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Lozon Tablets and after I had very little faith in any medicine and thought I was going to die, I got these medicines at the drug store. My recovery was so rapid and complete that I surprised the doctor, even he thought it would be just temporary relief, but I am thankful to say that it is apparently a permanent cure. I have had two children since, both of them 'Favorite Prescription' babies. For I took this splendid tonic all the while. My health was fine and I had practically no suffering. I cannot praise these remedies too highly. I only hope my statement will be the means of many other women being restored to perfect health by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Lozon Tablets.'" — MRS. NETTIE BURNS, 208 N. Campbell St.

Women who are worn out, who are nervous or dizzy at times, should take Dr. Pierce's medicines, Lozon Tablets, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, in liquid, or in tablets. Send Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. 106, for trial package.

Do You Like Good, Clean, Stirring Adventure?

Wooden Spoil

is a story that is different from any you have ever read. Old Jonas Askew sank a fortune in a tract of Canadian woodland ten miles square. He dies and leaves it to his nephew, Hilary.

Hilary sets out to take possession only to find Lamartine, the Quebec notary, Brousseau and Morris covertly lined up against him.

And then there are the Seigneur Rosny and his daughter. Into this strange new world of rough lumbermen, old French traditions and unscrupulous money powers Hilary steps to battle for his own. It is a tale that calls to your fighting spirit.

REMARK CHANGE IN GHETTO

New Yorkers Note Revived Interest in City of Zion Since Jewish Soldiers' Return.

The street scenes in oriental New York just now are most interesting. Since the local Jewish doughboys have returned from the war a new interest is shown in Jerusalem, the City of Zion, for which they actually fought and helped to free, writes the correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. The penny peep-show man has put in a new line of Palestine views and does a flourishing business. Then there is the Hebrew "Morgendavit" or "Star of David," which appears for the first time in the stock of the vender of emblems of all nations. All around these East side streets surges the busy, cheerful, bargaining life of the Jewish people strangely marked and modified by New World customs, but still holding in its heart the ancient law and the prophets. There is the rotary kitchen man who sells potatoes and pancakes, but no "hot dog." Then there is a bewhiskered curbstone apothecary who sells unpated medicines and hot water bags; the rugman, who carries an entire shop on his ancient shoulders, and the young Yiddish merchant, who exchanges new pots and pans for old clothes.

THROUGH EYES OF PAINTER

Beauty of Things, as He Has Seen Them, Are Made Visible for All to Behold.

When we see the sunset's vaporous hills towering in purple and gold, or the gray road winding between the flaming furze, or the blue river rolling amid the green fields, where the sheep stand white on the bank and the red cattle graze, we feel we are part of the scene, and are included in the web of wonder. We behold a new world, whose horizon we cannot see, and whose messages we do not clearly understand. Most of us are too busy to wait and worship there, but ever the painter waits and worships. . . . Whatever he painted contained beauty already, but he alone perceived it and caressed it, and out of his love more beauty is unfolded, so that when we look at his achievement our eyes become brighter and brighter and more sensitive, ourselves greater, and we are able to glimpse that over-arching and inexpressible beauty of which we, and the picture, are only the outermost fringe. It is a triumphant trio, which will show us the promising vista. First the visible subject to be painted, then the painter, and lastly the beholder. — W. A. Sinclair, in Painting.

THE COLORS.

An interesting little scene was witnessed at the Auteuil barrier during the recent strike movement in France. Infantrymen had been posted to guard the tram line at a particular point, and on the advance of a crowd of strikers bearing the red flag the men took up their positions barring the road. The situation looked ominous enough and there seemed every likelihood of a collision, when a trooper appeared with the colors, and advancing to the front of the line displayed the blue, white and red of France. The effect of the beloved colors, symbol of so much sacrifice and so much glory, was almost instantaneous. The crowd stood silent a moment, then the revolutionary flag disappeared and soon after the strikers had all dispersed.

ARMED.

"Let's start a summer flirtation with those girls."
"Better not."
"Why?"
"They're knitting."
"Well, a girl can knit and yet not be too busy to flirt."
"You don't understand. I tried that once and the girl jabbed me with the knitting needle."

REWARDED RESEARCH.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I wish they wouldn't investigate the high cost of living any further."
"Why?"
"Every time they hold a new inquiry they seem to discover more of it."

JUST WANTED TO TELL HIM

Tompkins Really Had Information of More or Less Value to Impart to Firm's Head.

Tompkins was of a nervous disposition, he was somewhat slow and hesitating in times of emergency.

When he entered an office one day and found a stranger there, instead of the man he wanted, he somewhat lost himself.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," he began, "but—but are you Mr. Brown, the head of this firm?"

"No; I regret to say I am not."
"I'm sorry, very sorry indeed," went on Tompkins; "I had something I rather wanted to tell him. Do you think he'll be in soon?"

"I'm afraid not. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Er—yes, perhaps—er, perhaps you'll do as well as Mr. Brown. May I ask your name?"

"Certainly." And the stranger gave it.

"Delighted to meet you," said Tompkins.

"And now, what can I do for you, sir?" asked the new-found friend.

"Oh, it's a very small matter—not of the slightest consequence—er, that is, I came to tell the head of the firm that the building is on fire!" —London Tit-Bits.

PAINFUL EXPERIENCE.

"Here comes Glipping."
"I don't want to meet him."
"What's the matter?"
"Glipping persuaded me to try his recipe for putting a 'kick' in a bottle of grape juice. If there were such a thing as justice in this world he'd have to pay my doctor's bill."
